Unity in Doctrine, Life, and Service Through

MENNONITE GENERAL CONFERENCE

A. J. Metzler, Moderator

"Neither pray I for these alone, but for them . . . that they all may be one; as thou Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: . . . that they may be one, even as we are one: . . . that they may be made perfect in one" (John 17: 20-23).

"For by one spirit are we all baptized into one body" (I Cor. 12:13b).

"There is one body and one spirit" (Eph. 4:4b).

The unity of the believers in Christ as demonstrated in love, fellowship, and service is clearly shown in the New Testament to be a primary concern of God and of the early church leaders. This same concern for unity and a closer bond of fellowship and service was a primary burden prompting our brethren to bring into existence the Mennonite general Conference. Likewise this concern has often been expressed as shown in the records. Without doubt General Conference has made valuable contributions to this unity. Certainly much of the church's growth and outreach as well as evidences of today's unity in life and work are due to the influence of General Conference.

The work of Mennonite General Conference is carried on through the following organization: An Executive Committee of five serves as a steering committee for the General Council. The General Council is made up of one representative each from 18 conferences in the United States, Canada, and abroad, and one representative each from the eleven boards and committees under General Conference. In addition there are the following seven committees with special assignments: Peace Problems Committee, Mennonite Mutual Aid, General Problems Committee, Music Committee, Committee on Economic and Social Relations, Historical Committee, and Ministerial Committee.

The further work of the General Conference is carried on in its annual sessions made up of delegates as follows: Members of the Executive Committee and the General Council, the bishops of all conferences eligible for membership in General Conference together with a number of elected delegates from each conference.

Considerable work is also handled by standing committees of the General Council or special committees of the Council or General Conference. Of the General Council committees the one on the co-ordination of the church program represents a significant service for all of our conferences and church agencies. Its work includes the bringing together in a composite picture the entire program of the church as represented by its various boards and committees. Under the direction of General Council it is charged with the presenting of this total picture in a clear and unified way to our entire constituency. The full functioning of this committee will be carried forward better when the office of Executive Secretary is established.

One of the most significant moves of the 1953 General Conference in the area of organization was the establishment of the office of Executive Secretary. This person will give approximately one half time to this work. In addition to the duties formerly carried by the General Conference secretary he will give time to the united efforts of all the church agencies attempting to represent the total work of the church and General Conference throughout the church and to speak for the church beyond our own denominational circles. This office will likely function during the second half of the current General Conference biennium (August 1953 to August 1955).

In addition to the many other valuable services that the General Council has rendered in the four years since it has been founded it has served as a splendid opportunity for Christian fellowship and in providing a better understanding of the common problems and work of all of the conferences and agencies. The two-day sessions of the biennial meetings of the General Council have been rich in the benefits of bringing together brethren from throughout the church in the homeland and abroad to express our common concerns and to seek one another's counsel and prayers in carrying on the great task of the church. This in itself has greatly contributed to a better understanding of one another's work and problems and has strengthened the bonds of unity and fellowship among us.

The Ontario Mennonite Conference was host to the 1953 biennial session held August 25-30, 1953, in the Kitchener Municipal Auditorium. Both the fine hospitality of the Ontario brotherhood and the excellent accomodations of the auditorium combined to make the entertainment and facilities among the best in the history of General Conference. There was one day for the General Council's work, two days for business by the delegate body, and three days for inspirational messages, worship, and fellowship. The themes for these three days were: (1) Deepening the Spiritual Life; (2) Preserving the Faith; (3) Making Christ Known. All sessions were open to the public with the last three days especially planned for the entire brotherhood. However, the attendance did not reach the five or six thousand as in some of the large pre-war sessions.

Plans for the 1955 sessions will again engage the serious attention of both the Executive Committee and the General Council. The kind, length, and location of the meeting as well as many other details merit much thought and counsel. The prayers of the brotherhood are greatly needed.

With the very extensive work of the church at home and abroad work is made for numerous committees, boards, and meetings. This gives opportunity for substantial financial support by the conferences and congregations. This phase of the work is carefully planned and kept to a minimum. The Budget and Finance Committee studies the needs and prepares a combined budget for all the work under General Conference. The support by most congregations to the extent of 60 cents per member provides sufficient funds for this part of the church's work.

The benefits of past world conferences have been evaluated and General Conference has decided again to co-operate in the next one to be held in Europe in 1957. This wider world-wide Mennonite fellowship presents both opportunities and challenges.

The only meeting of the General Council in 1954 is planned for Oct. 1 and 2 at the Laurelville Mennonite Camp near Scottdale, Pennsylvania. This will follow a two-day conference sponsored by the Commission for Christian Education to which all Council members are invited.

With the many open doors for a united witness and service at home and abroad; with so many "voices" and divisions calling for attention; with the Lord's plea that "they may be one"; I close this with an earnest plea for a still greater dedication and effort for further progress in a united fellowship and service on a Scriptural basis.

Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities

J. D. Graber, Secretary

Organizationally the most significant development during the past year was the revision of the Bylaws of the Board at the June, 1953, Annual Meeting. Organization properly conceived is merely a tool, and therefore the Bylaws and regulations need to be revised from time to time so that the enlarging scope of the Board's work will not be hindered by inadequate organization.

A most fundamental concept that was re-emphasized in the revision is that the Mission Board is church-centered and church-controlled. We do not want to forget that the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities is a servant and an avenue of missionary expression for the Mennonite Church. This concept is quite different from that of a missionary society that does mission work in its own right and simply asks the church for support. All the interdenominational boards are of this latter type, and it is possible that the mission board of a denomination can gradually become more or less of a self-perpetuating and independent organization within the church.

To stress this church-centered concept the new regulations provide for an Executive Committee of five elected members. The secretary, treasurer, and other departmental secretaries are no longer members of the Executive Committee as heretofore. Under the earlier system these secretaries were appointed by the combined Executive and Missions committees, and thus there existed some tendency in the direction of self-perpetuating authority by having an Executive Committee actually appointing some of its own members. These secretaries meet with the Committee most of the time and present reports, information, and recommendations, but it is only the five openly elected members who vote. This roots final authority more firmly back in the Board itself.

Another revision concerns membership. For many years the chairman of the local boards of missions and institutions were members of the Board by virtue of their office. Since these chairmen in most cases were also the Board's own appointed missionaries and superintendents, and since the expanding work of the Board led to a large increase in this type of representation, it was clear again that we had here a tendency toward self-perpetuation of authority.

We also no longer use the term "Local Board" for city and rural missions. We encourage the formation of a representative church council, made up of the local membership and a board of trustees (made up of local membership and elected by the congregation as soon as possible) to act as a small responsible group to represent the Board's interests in real estate, finances, policy and program, specifying that in all recommendations to the Board they work co-operatively with the church council.

For institutions we prefer to call the local committee the "Board of Directors," and we expect them to exercise wide administrative authority in the affairs of the institution. The Board through its Executive Committee sets broad policy lines, but the local Board of Directors, made up of local men with business and administrative ability, is expected to carry the responsibility for actual administration. For this reason these directors are now appointed by the Board Executive Committee and, upon request, by the executive committee of the district conference concerned, rather than elected by the conference membership itself.

There are in the Board organization two administrative committees—the Relief and Service Committee and the Radio Evangelism Committee—each responsible for its section of the Board's work. In addition there are a number of advisory committees assisting with the program in the following areas: Urban Evangelism, Child Welfare, Hospitals and Charitable Homes, and Investment. By the use of these advisory committees a much larger number of persons, particularly from the laity, can take an active part in the direction of the church's mission, service, and institutional program.

The entire work of the Board is divided into sections as follows: Foreign Missions, Home Missions, Radio Evangelism, Finance, Publicity and Church Relations, Hospitals and Charitable Homes, and Relief and Service. The Finance, Publicity, Relief and Service, and Hospitals and Charitable Homes have specially appointed secretaries (in Finance it is the treasurer) carrying the administrative load in their assigned areas, while the Executive Secretary of the Board carries responsibility for the remaining areas and divisions.

The only directly elected committee besides the Executive Committee is the Personnel Committee. These five brethren serve as the examining committee for Board appointed personnel, set up personnel standards and requirements, and with the Executive Committee, share in making the most important appointments of secretaries and committees.

In reading through this discussion, you may receive the impression that we have a complicated organization. We feel, on the contrary, that we have set up here just enough organization to look after the diversified Board activities, keep the authority for direction and policy rooted in the church itself, and furnish opportunity for the use of an ever larger number of ministers and active laymen and women in the church's mission and service program.

The work of the Board is constantly expanding, and consequently the administrative load becomes heavier. More and more consecrated workers are being used in an enlarging program that is world-wide. The finances required for its operation total about a million dollars annually. We believe the brotherhood wants the mission and service interests of the Mennonite Church to grow. When the members are well informed and have confidence in the administration, they are happy to furnish the personnel and finances needed to carry forward this world-wide witness of the church.

Elkhart, Ind.

Mennonite Relief and Service Committee

Boyd Nelson, Secretary for Relief and Service

The work of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities in the area of relief and service is administered through a committee known as the Mennonite Relief and Service Committee. This committee functions for the Board in the relief and service area between annual meetings, and its work is reviewed annually by the Board at its meetings. Its policies and direction are guided by the general policies of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, and its administration on a day-to-day basis is part of the total administrative organization of the Board.

As the general relief and service organization of the Mennonite Church, MRSC operates and administers directly a program of voluntary service and I-W services. It also co-operates with inter-Mennonite efforts in foreign relief, refugee aid and resettlement, PAX, I-W services, voluntary service, and mental health, either through direct support of these programs on a budget or statement basis or as a channel of contributions to the Mennonite Central Committee at Akron, Pa., the agency for such inter-Mennonite co-operation.

I. Relief and Refugee Aid

MRSC foreign relief and refugee aid efforts are carried on through the Mennonite Central Committee. Refugee assistance and rehabilitation projects continue to be carried on in France, Germany, and Austria in Europe; and Jordan, Java, Japan, Korea, and Formosa in Asia. The largest emergency needs continue among the refugees in Korea and Jordan. The monthly budget support for the MCC program of relief and refugee aid continues at $6,000. Funds for these programs come through the local congregations' relief and service offerings or through contributions designated for that purpose sent through the district conference treasurers or directly to the Mission Board treasurer.

In the past year a warehouse has been completed in Elkhart, and its use has been extended to MCC for a material aid collection point. It is seeing good use for this purpose.

An emergency relief fund is kept on hand at all times for the use of our foreign or home missionaries in cases of local disasters.

II. Long-Term Voluntary Service

The long-term MRSC voluntary service program continues to grow and expand as the draft continues to call young men, and others feel the call to service in this manner. There are now approximately 130 workers in voluntary service (Nov. 15, 1953), of which about one half are I-W men. The largest units continue to be the ones at La Junta Hospital and La Plata Mennonite Project, Puerto Rico.

MRSC has six basic concepts around which its program is organized and toward realization of which its staff is continuing to work. Voluntary service must be Christ-centered, church-directed, mission-minded, service-motivated, fellowship-minded, and growth-concerned. Only as these goals are achieved in balance with one another can we feel that our voluntary service program is successful. The following long-term units continue along the lines described below.

Foreign Service

There are at present five workers serving in foreign assignments. These workers teach in schools, serve in leprosy homes, and do mission construction work. Most are loaned to other organizations and are supported on a basis similar to PAX men or earn sufficient money to pay their expenses.

Community Service Units

Puerto Rico: Plans for the year 1954 include the beginning of the new Aibonito Mennonite Hospital with government financial aid. Plans for deputation work to raise the funds necessary call for solicitation to begin in January, 1954, with the ground breaking in June. Medical services for 1954 and some in 1955 will continue as in the past with the present hospital serving the La Plata community and a sanitation unit for hookworm control serving in the various mission communities. The farm program is now largely self-supporting and continues its witness and aid to the farmers of the La Plata community with demonstration projects, breeding and hatching services, and general counsel and help on specific problems. The service program also serves both the community and the mission churches in other ways. The repair and maintenance of mission property is carried on by a service unit member. A mechanic will service all Board cars in Puerto Rico for both the mission and service programs. The community service program carries on recreational and educational activities for the residents of the La Plata area. Two workers are on loan to El Hogar del Nino, a children's home in Rio Piedras. As of Nov. 15, 1953, the service program employs twenty-nine workers.

The Mennonite Service Unit to Navaho Migrants: The Navaho unit now has three members with the largest part of its service continuing in nursing, medical service, and Bible study, with recreation for the children carried on as possible with the personnel available. The leadership has changed with Stanley Weaver and wife continuing with the Board on an appointed missionary basis and organizing a mission program on the reservation. Marion Bontrager and wife have taken over as leaders of the service program.

Mathis, Texas: The Mathis unit has expanded greatly during the past year with the establishment of a builders' unit for the purpose of building homes for the Mexicans who couldn't afford to buy a home without the contribution of labor. A builders' group of five I-W men has completed a number of houses with blocks they made themselves.

The projected nursing program is slowly beginning with the assignment of a nurse and a survey of community needs and resources in the public health area. When sufficient funds become available, a maternity home will be established for Mexican mothers who would otherwise open themselves and their babies to dangerous infections in their own homes. A recreation program has run into some difficulty because of public pressure. The kindergarten continues to meet a real need in helping to prepare Mexican children for public school, particularly in helping them to master the English.

Hospital Units

Kansas City, Mo. The Kansas City unit serves the General Hospital there in the area of nursing service with most of the workers doing orderly or nurse aide work. Five of the workers are serving in the voluntary and alternative service homes which are near the hospital and only two blocks apart. The voluntary service unit now numbers fourteen persons, with two additional workers serving as managers of the alternative service home. Final plans have now been approved for the expansion of the voluntary service property at 2515 Holmes with new kitchen and dining facilities, a recreation and club room (for children's work), a shop, and additional dormitory space for men and women to be added. It is anticipated that the enlarged home will accomodate eight or ten more workers in addition to providing needed space for some community service in the way of children's recreation, Bible classes, and clubs.

The voluntary service unit works actively in the program of the Mennonite Gospel Center and serves as a nucleus for the total I-W group serving in the various institutions in Kansas City as well as the nursing and X-ray students in training there. The total community of Mennonite young people they are now serving numbers forty or fifty.

La Junta Mennonite Hospital and Sanitarium: The La Junta unit continues to be the largest MRSC unit with a group of thirty-one. The members of the unit have their own organization including a voluntary service council consisting of a chairman and the chairmen of the service, religious life, social and publicity committees. In addition to their work in the hospital as orderlies, aids, housekeepers, laundry workers, office workers, kitchen workers, and maintenance men, the unit carries on an organized program of plus service and witness activities, and some deputation work to near-by Mennonite churches.

Through a system of bookkeeping, any saving that accrues to the hospital through the use of voluntary service personnel is used in meeting the costs of hospitalization for folks who cannot pay for it.

Kiowa County Memorial Hospital Unit: A unit of four is serving in this Board operated hospital. They are serving as aids, orderlies, office workers, and as X-ray and laboratory technicians. The hospital has had its patient load severely cut during the last few months by the drafting of one of the two doctors in practice in the county, but another doctor has been found for service there.

State University of Iowa Medical Services Unit: A group of nine workers is serving in the home for the unit or at University Hospitals or the Hospital School for Handicapped Children in Iowa City. Here they have an opportunity to serve the sick or the crippled children from all over Iowa with the distinctive concern of Christian love. Here they may witness to the students on the large campus of SUI. Here they may participate in the work of the Mennonite Mission Church and in the Mennonite Student Fellowship on the campus. They may also help the numerous other Mennonite employees of the SUI Medical Service Units to point up their Christian witness by serving as a focal point to tie them together.

Homes for the Aged

Eureka Home for the Aged: At Eureka, Ill., three I-W men are helping to make the lives of the aged happier and smoother. They work on the farm, at maintenance work, in the kitchen, in the laundry, and in general service in the Home. This unit could be enlarged to six or seven if personnel were to make themselves available.

Froh Brothers Homestead: This large farmstead former county home near Sturgis, Mich., has been remodeled into a suitable home for the aged. Dedicated on Nov. 8, 1953, it has been using three voluntary service workers for the past several months to help in the remodeling. Two workers are working the farm which includes a sizable dairy herd and over 500 acres of farmland, and the others will be working in service to the guests of the home in various capacities. This unit likely will expand over the next several months as the Home goes into full-scale operation.

Other Service Opportunities

Elkhart Board Headquarters: Voluntary service workers at the Elkhart office now number five. Two are staff members in the Relief and Service office; one is responsible for the multigraphing department operations and maintenance of Board property in Elkhart; one is matron of the voluntary service center at 1525 Prairie St.; and the fifth assists in the housekeeping and hostess' work at the Board offices.

Hesston College and Bible School: The Hesston voluntary service unit now numbers six workers, five I-W men and a wife. Here the workers enjoy all the advantages of life in the highly spiritual and intellectually stimulating environment of Hesston College in addition to contributing to the church's educational program through service in the offices, kitchen, maintenance shops, and farm operations of the college.

Other Church Institutions: A few workers are also serving in the West Liberty, O., Children's Home, and the Braeside, Ontario, Home. Here they serve as regular staff members in assisting to care for the aged or children, as the case might be.

City Missions: The mission stations of our district conferences as well as those of our general Board offer many opportunities for significant service. There are several voluntary service workers attached to city missions in Chicago in addition to a voluntary service worker who serves in all three of the Chicago missions. The work these people do ranges from teaching in Sunday school, summer Bible school, and released time religious education classes in the public schools, to recreation leadership in boys' and girls' clubs, sewing classes' guidance, and janitor work in the mission buildings.

I-W Leadership and Homemaking Personnel: Eight men and women serve fulltime in I-W centers as leaders of homemakers on a voluntary service basis. These workers make an excellent contribution in the homes and help groups of I-W men to develop their fellowship as well as making a home for them away from home.

Future Planning

MRSC planning for the future includes a mobile construction unit for unit quarters for several of the units as well as the Puerto Rico Hospital. Investigation is being made for additional services development in Puerto Rico and a self-supporting unit development in Canada.

Voluntary Service Orientation

As workers prepare for assignments in voluntary service, there is need to develop some sense of loyalty to an organized program and a commitment to the idealism from which it springs. This means that orientation periods of ten days to two weeks give direction for thinking and work as assignments begin. It means that workers have a sense of the Bible as a tool for spiritual growth and problem solving, some knowledge of our heritage as a Mennonite Church, some concept of what is involved in Christian group living, a grasp of some of the implications of the peace testimony for our total lives, and finally a perspective on how they fit into the program of the particular units to which they are assigned. The classes meet in the archives room at the Elkhart headquarters, 1711 Prairie St., while meals are taken and most volunteers live at 1525 Prairie St., the voluntary service center.

Voluntary Service—Summer

The summer service program had fewer volunteers in the summer of 1953 due primarily to the uncertainty of the draft and the large numbers of men of the church already in I-W service. There were, however, some 110 volunteers serving in 24 units. MRSC also supported 21 volunteers in MCC summer service units. In the MRSC program, 10 units were city mission, 6 rural mission, 4 child welfare, 2 home for the aged and one each youth team and the Mennonite Publishing House.

III. I-W Services

While the long term voluntary service program is still one of the chief concerns of MRSC in its operations, the I-W services program to our Mennonite men has become an item of major concern. Attempting to fit into the over-all relationships of the Mennonite Central Committee I-W services program, we try to serve the men in concentrations that are largely of our constituency.

In the services we have included leadership and assistance in helping I-W men to get organized to meet their own needs, educational service by helping to develop channels of getting high school credit and providing educational testing devices for vocational guidance, circulation of a motion picture projector with suitable educational and religious films, help in providing equipment and facilities for recreational programs, and in some cases assistance in developing suitable living and eating arrangements.

This has involved the establishment of homes and centers in the following cities: East Lansing, Mich; Gary, Ind.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Kansas City, Mo.; Plymouth, Mich.; and Des Moines, Ia. In these centers men may live in limited numbers (room rates: $5.00 per week); have their meals at cost in most cases; and use the facilities for reading, meetings, laundry, washing cars, small games, ping-pong, and other recreation.

In other areas attempts have been made to find properties for rent in which the group could meet, have a center for informal activities, and a location for small games and similar recreations at moderate cost. One such has been located in Kalamazoo and others may be arranged as time goes on. The church periodicals are directed to these locations and attempts are made through unit newsletters to keep the members informed on the total developments in their own units and the surrounding areas.

The I-W men have on the whole been excellent representatives for the church and for Christ. For this we are grateful. They and all who work with them are conscious of the tremendous temptations which come when all roots and home ties have been loosened. It is the purposes of the I-W services which MRSC provides not only to strengthen these front-line missionaries against these temptations, but to help them in their Christian witness so that they may be effective ambassadors for their Saviour.

IV. Finances

The current (October, 1953 to March, 1954) MRSC budget includes the MCC support for the following things as indicated: relief, $3,500 monthly; refugee aid and resettlement, $2,500 monthly; voluntary service, $800 monthly; support for Mennonite PAX men, $3,000 monthly; MCC I-W services, $1,200 monthly or a total of $11,000 monthly for MCC support.

For its own directly administered program, MRSC has budgeted approximately $7,000 monthly for voluntary service costs including administration, orientation, support costs for the 135 voluntary service workers in approximately 20 locations, and $2,000 monthly on services to I-W men.

For its money to do these things, MRSC relies on the relief and service offerings in the local congregations. These offerings provide a systematic base of support for these MRSC and MCC operations. Congregations which do not take these offerings are urged to do so in order that they may share in the ministry to physical need and suffering, the provision of service opportunities for those who feel called to serve in this way, and the church's services to its I-W men who are just now its front-line missionaries.

Peace Problems Committee

H. S. Bender, Chairman

The Draft

The past year has brought a greatly increased tempo in the drafting of conscientious objectors. As of Jan. 26, 1954, approximately 4,000 CO's are in I-W service, of whom 70 per cent are Mennonites and Amish, with 32 per cent (1,200) members of the Mennonite Church. Most of these men are serving in mental hospitals and general hospitals. Some 90 are serving overseas, chiefly in PAX units in Germany, Greece, Jordan, and Korea. Mennonite I-W men serve in 162 locations. There are 8 organized centers for the larger units, and 8 organized units without centers. Eleven area field representatives serve our I-W men under the I-W Services Program administered by the Mennonite Relief and Service Committee (MRSC, Elkhart, Ind.). About 15 per cent (190) of our men serve in Voluntary Service, Relief, PAX, and Mennonite institutions. The MRSC monthly budget for I-W work is as follows: PAX, $3,000; MRSC I-W Services, $3,000; support of MCC I-W Services, $1,200. The MCC is responsible by agreement for I-W services to groups and location where the majority of men are not of our own constituency. It serves 42 additional locations, and operates 11 additional organized units.

Pastoral Ministry to I-W Men

While the general services to I-W men are the responsibility of the Mennonite Relief and Service Committee (Elkhart, Ind.), the pastoral ministry to the men is the responsibility of the district conferences, with the Peace Problems Committee responsible for general supervision and co-ordination. Bishop Anson G. Horner of Kokomo, Ind., served for approximately four months during 1953 as part-time visitor and co-ordinator of pastoral services. He did the groundwork in preparation for the establishment of a regular office for supervision and co-ordination which was set up at Elkhart, Ind., in the Mission Board headquarters building and began operations Feb. 8, 1954. Robert Keller, on leave of absence for one year from his work as pastor of the Science Ridge congregation at Sterling, Ill., has been appointed to direct the work of this office. The office will publish a biweekly four-page pastoral messenger, The Lantern, beginning March 3, 1954. Many of the district conferences have appointed part-time field pastors to serve the scattered I-W units and men in their areas, and a number of the larger units have regular religious services. The church seeks to maintain its regular spiritual ministry to its men who are temporarily (for two years) living in new locations, where for the most part no normal congregational life and fellowship are available.

Peace and Nonresistance Teaching

During 1953 the Committee co-operated with the Mennonite Commission for Christian Education in a year of special teaching emphasis on nonresistance and peace. On the week end of July 4, 1953, a series of nationwide special conferences were held, which reached all larger centers of our membership.

Peace Essay Contest

The annual Peace Essay Contest sponsored by the Committee was held again in 1953. The winners were: first prize, Lewis Weber, Rockway Mennonite School; second prize, Orvilla Gingerich, Iowa Mennonite School; tied for third prize, Virginia Peachey, Belleville Mennonite School, and Vernon Brubacher, Rockway Mennonite School.

Peace Conferences

A special conference on the Church and Peace sponsored by the Church Peace Mission, was held in Detroit, Mich., Dec. 7-10, 1953. Of the approximately 400 participants, 65 were Mennonites of various branches, 16 being of our own group. A Mennonite-Brethren-Friends Study Conference with the general theme "The Meaning of Christian Love," will be held at Bluffton College, Bluffton, Ohio, July 15-18, 1954. One third of the 150 participants are to be Mennonites. The Peace Problems Committee is arranging for approximately fifteen from our group to attend.

Peace Literature

A thorough review of our present peace literature and a study of future needs is being undertaken by the Committee with a view to enlarging both the available materials and the distribution. Steps are being taken for the deposit of such literature in selected North American and foreign libraries.

A particularly valuable pamphlet statement, Peace Is the Will of God, issued in Europe in 1953 by a group of representatives of Mennonites, Brethren, English Friends, and International FOR, and intended for submission to the World Council of Churches at its August, 1954, Evanston, Ill., meeting is now available for general distribution. Paul Peachey shared largely in the drafting of this statement. It is to be slightly revised and made available for general distribution in Mennonite circles.

Draft Census

The Committee is sponsoring a new draft census during March, 1954, to secure as complete as possible information concerning the present stand of our young men on military service. All signs point to a much improved record now in comparison to the record of World War II.

Membership and Officers 1953-55

The election by the 1953 General Conference and subsequent Committee reorganization have resulted in the following organization for 1953-55: H. S. Bender, Chairman; John E. Lapp, Vice-Chairman; Paul Peachey, Secretary; O. O. Miller, Treasurer; and other members of the U.S. section, Amos S. Horst, J. L. Stauffer, John L. Horst, Paul Guengerich, Ford Berg, Gerald Studer; Canadian Section J. B. Martin, John W. Snyder, Newton Gingerich, Milo D. Stutzman.

Mennonite Publication Board

E. C. Bender, President

At the close of 1953 the Mennonite Publication Board will have completed 46 years of service. The Board now consists of 31 members who are chosen according to a formula provided by its constitution.

The Publication Board functions through the Mennonite Publishing House located at Scottdale, Pa., and branch stores located at Lancaster, Pa., New Holland, Pa., Souderton, Pa., Goshen, Ind., and Kitchener, Ont. These functions required the continuous employment of at least 150 persons.

During the last decade there has been of necessity an unprecedented growth of the Publishing House and her stores to meet the literature and publicity demands of the Mennonite Church. This growth has not been without its "growing pains." To continue the figure further, we are quite hopeful that the normal adolescent frustrations will soon give way to the calm and happy assuming of manhood responsibility.

The aims of the Board in its operations through the Mennonite Publishing House are well stated in the following proposed Publishing House objectives:

"1. To know and understand the basic literature needs and demands of the Mennonite Church.

"2. To produce or select, and distribute to the Mennonite Church, Christian literature which meets denominational needs and which is of high literary quality, physically attractive, and durable.

"3. To provide adequately for the literature needs of every division of the life and work of the Mennonite Church, such as our missionary, educational, and relief work.

"4. To provide adequately for the varying literature needs as to content of every unit of the church—the conference, congregation, home, and individual.

"5. To give a witness and service by providing and distributing Christian literature outside our denomination.

"6. To maintain an ideal business institution whose personnel and activities exemplify Christian standards of life and conduct as held by the Mennonite Church."

To fulfill these objectives the Board must accept the sacred responsibility to provide all the units and agencies of the church with the very best in Christian literature that each of them can do their assigned work in the most effective way. The Publishing House should be the strong "right arm" of all church agencies.

Presently the service of the Mennonite Publication Board to the church through the Publishing House includes the following major areas:

1. Books and booklets
2. Magazines
3. Tracts
4. Christian educational materials
5. Foreign Literature
6. Printing

The Publishing House has never gone heavily into book publishing. The reason for this is partly because of the lack of suitable manuscript material furnished by Mennonite authors and partly because of inadequate sales potential to justify the cost. An attempt, however, is made to select suitable books for our homes and church and make them available through our stores and mail order department.

The December, 1953, issues of the Christian Monitor and The Mennonite Community were the final issues of those two magazines. The January, 1954, issue of Christian Living was the first for this magazine.

Christian Living is a 52-page monthly magazine designed to take the place of the two that were discontinued.

The periodicals published by the Mennonite Publication Board are planned to cover certain needs of all the various reader groups. They are as follows:

Gospel Herald
Christian Living
Youth's Christian Companion
Words of Cheer
Beams of Light
The Way
El Heraldo
Christian Ministry
The Christian School

The Tract Department is furnishing practically all the tracts used by our own people. An increasing number of other Christian organizations is calling upon us to supply their needs in this field.

The largest single area of Publishing House service is in the field of Christian educational materials. This includes our graded and uniform Sunday-school and summer Bible school supplies. It is a privilege to serve far beyond our own denomination. Not only are other Mennonite groups using these materials, but their representatives are co-operating with our curriculum planners in developing Christian educational objectives and outlines for additional graded Sunday-school lessons.

Because of mission and relief activities of the church in foreign fields, the Publishing House is challenged more and more to furnish literature in foreign languages. The Spanish monthly, El Heraldo, is going regularly to 20 foreign countries. Eleven Spanish tracts, one of which is a 16-page booklet, are being published.

We now have completed the publication of 16 summer Bible school books in Spanish. These include pupils' and teachers' books in the eight grades from Kindergarten I to grade six. There is a growing demand for this material, especially from Puerto Rico and Argentina.

During the past year our Board has accepted the overtures from the MCC to assume responsibility for the translating and publishing of summer Bible school materials into German and French. This project began in a small way four years ago. In the summer of 1954 the materials produced in Europe are being used in seven countries, including Canada and Paraguay. It is possible that this effort may lead to other publishing services for our European churches. Our Publishing Agent spent several weeks in Europe during the past summer organizing this work.

There was a time when the Publishing House did practically all our own printing and also considerable commercial printing and binding. Although we have increased our printing capacity, yet we are not able to print all our own materials and must continue to restrict printing services to others. For the present we cannot accept printing from any individuals nor can we do it for organizations other than those of our own denomination.

Our total sales during the past year has been well over the million-dollar mark. Certain areas represent a financial loss while others show a reasonable margin. This is not unexpected in the light of the Publication Board's total church responsibility. Some of these losses are occasioned by certain kinds of free literature, liberal discounts to ministers and missionaries, and subsidies to church periodicals to make them available to all Mennonite homes. The necessary deficits according to present Board policies against the profit margins make the final profits hardly adequate for needed plant improvement and expansion. These policies are under study now for possible revisions.

The Mennonite Publishing House comes under the Wage and Hour Law because it is engaged in interstate business. Therefore, The House does not have the same freedom in setting wages and salaries as most of our other church institutions. This fact brings a definite challenge to every employee for conscientious efficiency.

During the past year the Mennonite Publishing House received in contributions a total of approximately $8,000 to help develop the Foreign Literature program which needs to be subsidized heavily especially in its early stages. We are deeply grateful to the many who contributed to the Foreign Literature fund.

The members of the Publication Board Executive Committee for 1953 were: E. C. Bender, President; Clarence Lutz, Vice President; Harold Zehr, Secretary; Don Kreider, Financial Agent; John C. Wenger, Fifth Member.

The members of the Publishing Committee were: Paul Erb, chairman; John L. Horst, Howard Charles, John E. Lapp, Roy Roth,

The Officers of the House were A. J. Metzler, Publishing Agent; Ellrose Zook, Assistant Publishing Agent.

The House Division Heads were: Editorial, Ellrose Zook; Production, Ralph Hernley; Sales, Paul Shank; Financial, E. C. Bender.

Mennonite Board of Education

Nelson E. Kauffman, President

The Mennonite Board of Education will soon have finished a half century of work as a corporation under the laws of the State of Indiana. There was, however, a "Board of Education" of brethren representing the Mennonite Church previous to the present corporation. The first building at Goshen was built in 1903; and so during 1953 appropriate anniversary celebrations were conducted by Goshen College.

The annual meeting of the Board held at Nappanee, Ind., Oct. 15-17, 1953, also gave some attention to the accomplishments of education in the Mennonite Church during the past half century. The story of the growth of educational interest and development of denominational schools during the past two decades is an unusual and dramatic phenomenon of our denominational history.

With the phenomenal growth of elementary and secondary school units in our church, many persons have become responsible as members of boards of control. The Board of Education has been authorized by General Conference to provide a co-ordinating and correlating facility, which is known as the General Educational Council. Its function and service will become more clear as it seeks to serve in the area of guidance in educational matters and as its services are sought by various groups. Its organization and personnel are to be reviewed by the Board's Executive Committee at the request of the Council so that it may better serve the church.

The Board in annual session at Nappanee, Ind., demonstrated its virility and sense of responsibility in its manner of deliberation and decision regarding the presidency of Goshen College. After a period of the finest example of brotherly, frank, and Spirit-led discussion, Paul Mininger was elected to the presidency of Goshen College to begin his administrative duties with the 1954-55 school year. It is clear that the Board senses its responsibility in the administration of colleges at Goshen and Hesston, and of the La Junta School of Nursing.

Roy Roth was installed as president of Hesston College on May 31, 1953. The college under his leadership is beginning a three-year program of expansion, which has as its goal the building of a church-chapel, the remodeling of the administration building, and providing more adequately for the annual operating budget.

Plans have been approved at Goshen for the building of a seminary building including a small chapel, a nurses' home, and an educational building. The enrollment for the first semester was high in spite of the I-W service program, and it is anticipated that enrollments will grow in the future.

After fifty years of experience in college work and with the growing number of elementary and secondary schools, the church must have a clear educational philosophy which may serve to direct the course of the future. The church must be prepared to give more largely to education as well as to missions. There must be a growing number of young people who feel the call of Christ and the church to enter the field of teaching. In addition to personnel for our own schools, we should also furnish teachers for the public schools, as a form of Christian witness. The task before us is to assimilate these schools as a part of our church life and to learn how to make them serve the Lord and the church effectively.

The Board of Education, as well as the other two Boards of the Mennonite Church, are beginning to experience the meaning of our retirement provisions. We now have a number of persons who have given their lives in sacrificial service to the church in her schools. It has not been possible for them to lay up sufficient funds for their living needs when they have passed retirement age. Our schools are participating in the Social Security provision of the Federal Government, but those benefits need to be supplemented by the Board. The Board sincerely appreciates the sacrificial way in which our brethren and sisters are serving the young people of the church. The sacrifice of our teachers in our schools has been a continuing influence for good in the lives of students and a testimony to the power of Christ in the lives of His followers. By requiring a sense of divine call in persons who serve on the faculties of our schools, we have not had difficulty in finding consecrated persons to fill the positions, while those institutions who motivate teachers by a competitive wage have had problems of staffing.

The Conrad Grebel Lectureship under the direction of the General Educational Council, is being much appreciated. The church needs to become more familiar with the services, purpose, and objectives of the lectureship. The 1954 lecture will be prepared by Paul Erb on a subject relating to the return of Christ.

The Mennonite Research Foundation is a semi-autonomous organization with liaison relationship to the Board of Education. The church Boards contribute to the support of the Foundation. The work is done by a director of research and several assistants. The Foundation is open to receive research problems from any of our church organizations.

The work of the Board between sessions is done by the Executive Committee which meets approximately every quarter and as often as the work warrants.

Mennonite Commission for Christian Education

John R. Mumaw, Chairman

Organization Changes

During the year 1953 the organization of the Commission has been modified with minor changes. The financial program has been brought under the unified budget plan of General Conference with the Commission operating under its own treasurer. Contributions are now being made to the General Conference treasurer, and the Commission is operating under a budget approved by the General Council of General Conference.

For a number of years there has been a growing conviction that more attention should be given to adult education. The General Council of General Conference has given attention to the need for providing guidance to lay activities and in line with the suggestion coming from General Conference, the Commission has set up a divisional secretaryship to give attention to this area. We have, therefore, designated a Secretary of Adult Activities.

For a number of years the development and administration of church camps has increased steadily. In 1951 the Commission sponsored a conference of church camps at which time the group present expressed the sentiment that the Commission should set up a secretaryship to give guidance to this movement in the church. During the time since then special attention was given to the proposal and another study conference was sponsored with a view to crystallize a pattern of procedure for a promotional agency. As a result of that conference and other studies the Commission has now set up a special division known as Secretary of Church Camps.

With the increased emphasis on the division of teaching activities on a departmental basis, and since the present structure of youth activities includes the promotion of faith and practice, it was agreed that the Commission discontinue the Secretary of Young People's Bible Meetings and assign the duties formerly carried by that secretaryship to the office of the Secretary of Young People's Activities. This is a combining of activities under one leadership in the interest of efficiency and co-ordination of our youth work.

1956 Sunday School Convention

The general Sunday School Convention held in 1952 was received with such enthusiastic response that the Commission feels justified to look forward to a similar meeting in 1956. The initial steps in planning for such a convention have been taken by the Commission and during the following year considerable work will be done in preparation of a program and plans for such a meeting. It is our intention to include other areas of teaching effort in addition to that of the Sunday school.

Peace Conferences

The Commission in co-operation with the Peace Problems Committee of General Conference sponsored thirty regional conferences on the subject of nonresistance. We are highly gratified with the splendid co-operation of the church in making possible this concerted effort to bring an impact of teaching upon our people. We believe such efforts can well be undertaken in other areas of need in our church life in the future. We hope that we may have an enthusiastic response then as in this year's program of teaching.

Child Evangelism

A special committee has been studying the issues involved in child nurture, child conversion, child baptism, and child membership in the church. This committee has submitted progress reports to the Commission and has indicated far-reaching involvements in attempting to formulate an official statement of our views on child evangelism. The Commission has invited the General Council to participate in a study conference which will provide for a rather thorough investigation of the problem. It is hoped that from this conference the Commission will be able to draw up a statement of position that will represent the official view of the church on child evangelism.

Practical Helps

The divisional secretaries are conscious of the need for providing guidance in their areas for the local and district workers. The Secretary of Sunday Schools and the Field Secretary are planning a package of helps to enable the superintendent to administer Sunday-school work more efficiently. This is to provide stimulus and guidance, and ideas for the superintendent to improve his work. Aids of various kinds are being planned and should be released for superintendents throughout the church during this year.

A similar effort is being made in the field of home interests, but this is more directly concerned with putting good literature into the hands of young people who are anticipating marriage or who have recently been married. These are designed to help people find greater happiness in marital relationships and to assume the responsibilities of parenthood with better understanding of child nature. It is hoped that through these efforts we may be able to encourage stronger home life and a closer relationship of home and church.

Objectives

Since 1938 the production of Christian education literature has been administered under the guidance of a set of general objectives approved by the Commission. During this time a growing feeling for a more comprehensive statement of objectives has led to a restudy of purposes in the field of Christian education. Under the guidance of the Curriculum Committee and in co-operation with several other groups a rather comprehensive statement of objectives, broken down into various departments, has been formulated. It is believed these objectives will help definitely those who are writing Christian education literature to direct their message more sharply to the age level for which the materials are intended. The objectives should also prove to be valuable instruments to them in planning the presentation of truth, particularly the study materials that are placed into the hands of pupils.

1954 Emphasis

During 1954 the Commission is emphasizing evangelism as a means of outreach with the Gospel. This is particularly concerned with the encouragement of every member to participate in such a program. It is an effort to provide greater opportunity for lay expression in the total program of the church in its efforts to win the lost for Christ. We believe that evangelism and Christian education are fully compatible in their functions in the church. It is the high purpose of the Commission in all its work to contribute to the various efforts of evangelism and particularly during this year we wish to emphasize the need for confronting the unsaved with the unique claims of Christ.

Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities

Henry F. Garber, President

We closed another year with a deep sense of gratitude to our heavenly Father for His continual help. It is now a few more than fifty years since the first home mission was opened in Lancaster Conference. Now there are more than sixty home missions. In 1934 our first foreign field was opened. Now there are five foreign fields and about eighty-five foreign missionaries. These changes in one's own lifetime indicate a growing awareness of our responsibility to unsaved men and women.

Voluntary Service

Our church is blessed with many young people who desire to serve. Providing opportunities of short-term service for our young people in Christian areas is a comparatively new undertaking for our church. Spending a few days or weeks helping to build, repair, or paint some mission property is a new experience for many. Whatever form it takes, it often changes the outlook on life and service. Raymond Charles has been director of this program since its beginning several years ago.

Three migrant labor camps, one in northern Pennsylvania and two in Florida, are provided with a religious and social service program by voluntary service workers. The one at Immokalee, was just opened in 1953. In all these camps we find very needy people, and the opportunity is a real one. A number of our I-W boys are giving their two years of government service in this way. Three boys are serving in Tanganvika and Ethiopia in approved hospital service. The total number in voluntary service runs into the hundreds. This short-term service often becomes a turning point in the life and ideals of young people.

Home Missions

The outreach still continues. This is strikingly true in the Baltimore, Md., area. There are now eight mission points in the Baltimore-Washington area. Two of these, added in 1953, are Mount Airy and Dawsonville. In northern Pennsylvania, Morris Run now has resident workers. York's Corners, just across the line in New York State, is also operating regularly. In Florida, as a result of summer Bible school, a work is now going forward at Crestview. Pensacola is also a new work in Florida with resident workers. The first Creek Indian was recently baptized at Poarch, Ala. This work is entirely among the Indians.

In New York City there are now three centers. Fox Street was the first one. St. Ann's Avenue Mission was next added. This mission is in the process of moving because of a housing development. We bought another property about four blocks away on Brook Avenue which will give us equal facilities. These two missions work largely with Puerto Ricans, who are found in large numbers in this city.

The third mission is just being opened at this writing among the Negroes of Harlem on Seventh Avenue. The opening wedge here, too, was a summer Bible school. This is the ninth mission to the Negroes in our conference. Work continues in all the older missions, but there seems to be a better response in the newer ones than in the older ones.

Jewish Evangelism

A new center was established in Washington, D.C., at 323 Oglethorpe St., N.W., during the year. The Philadelphia center was moved to a more desirable location on 46th Street. A center is developing, too, in New York City under the leadership of Jacob Thomas. The Jewish work program operates under a special Jewish Committee serving our Board.

Itinerant Evangelism Committee

This committee is "eyes" for the Board. Quite a few permanent missions had their beginning in the activities of summer Bible school or the work of the itinerant preacher. Right now one couple is serving at Crestview, Fla., another at Bainbridge, Ga., and a third at Buffalo Ave., Tampa, Fla. The whole summer Bible school program in rural Pennsylvania, New York State, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida is directed by this committee.

Material Aid Committee

This committee is responsible for executing appeals for material aid. A large shipment of wheat and flour was gathered for Europe recently. At this writing the committee is assembling beef and pork for a sixty-ton shipment of canned meats for relief purposes in Europe, Korea, and Trans-Jordan.

Mission Welfare Committee

This is a newly organized committee who will be carrying the program for giving mission children a few weeks in country homes or in summer camps. They are also charged with the general oversight of our two old people's homes. One of these homes was just set up recently and will provide for aged Negro folks. The "fresh-air" project mentioned above last summer brought several hundred boys and girls from our missions into Christian homes in the country. The committee's work has great possibilities for doing good.

Foreign Missions

As stated above there are now five foreign fields. Tanganyika now has a church of about 900 baptized members, with about 600 additional catechumens. Enlarged hospital facilities were completed during the year at Shirati. This included a two-mile pipe line from Lake Victoria to provide water for the hospital and associated needs. A leper camp is being provided during 1954 for the several hundred lepers who come for treatment.

In Ethiopia we have a much younger church. Here a hospital plant was finished at Deder in 1953. X-ray machines are being provided for the two hospitals at Nazareth and Deder. Large numbers of patients come to these hospitals. At Addis Ababa is the Emperor's school for blind boys. Our mission was asked to staff this school. Forty-two boys are enrolled here. It is a much appreciated work and it receives visits from the Emperor frequently.

Italian Somaliland mission was opened in 1953. Wilbert Lind heads this work. There is a staff of four workers who are studying language and surveying the field for a good location. No other Protestant group is working in this whole country.

Luxembourg in Europe is a bit more than a year old. There are two couples serving here. This work is in the German language.

Honduras in Central America is three years old. It is a promising field. A small group of believers has been gathered in. There are two stations, Trujillo and Tocoa. There is a staff of four on the field. Two nurses will arrive in March. A new interest is developing among the Carib people along the coast. A small group of Caribs want to build a church at Santa Fe, a small village along the coast. This is very encouraging, for there are twelve believers here. This whole field has been without a doctor or nurse for some time, and all look forward eagerly to the coming of two nurses this spring.

Finance

With the growing program, it is very heartening to see the growth in giving. Receipts for all purposes reached a new high mark of $390,000. Most of this sum was for missions. The total was $50,000 more than the previous year and the highest in our history. With this response we thank God and take courage. We are reminded of II Cor. 9:8: "For God is able to make all grace abound towards you, so that ye always having all sufficiency in all things may abound to every good work."

Conclusion

We report these activities humbly and with thanksgiving. There is much yet to be done in God's great harvest field, Grain is getting white to harvest. In the language of Jesus let us say, "I must work the works of him that sent me while it is day. The night cometh when no man can work."

Mt. Joy, Pa.

Mennonite Central Committee

Emma Schlichting, Director of Information Service

Relief Section

Relief activities during 1953 continued much the same as in the several years previous. The number of foreign workers has changed very little. The greatest development has been in Korea where the number of personnel has increased to eleven.

Workers in Korea are located in Pusan and Taegu. Services in Pusan include the clearance of material aid shipments and contacts with government and welfare officials. The relief operation center is in Taegu. Here a house has been rented and serves as headquarters for material aid distribution and the agricultural project near by. The first milk and rice feeding project consists of feeding 6,000 people in six stations located at each of the city's six branch offices. The agricultural farm program is under way. Older orphan boys are taken in as repairs on the buildings make it possible to house them. A total of 250 will be taken care of when the program is operating to full capacity.

In Java the unit has moved from Pati to Kudus. Kudus is equally well located for the medical work and in addition offers better opportunities for community center services as well as contacts with both Indonesian and Chinese Mennonite Christians. During the past year the MCC property in Osaka, Japan, was sold to the Mennonite Brethren Mission Board. Part of the house is rented by MCC where three workers continue the welfare program. The clinics in Formosa functioned as before.

Jordan is still a country of great need. A large part of the population are people who have been refugees for nearly six years and their economic status has changed little during that time. Shipments of clothing and bedding are sent to Jordan nearly every month.

MCC Work in Europe—Austria, France, Germany,

Holland, Switzerland—continued on the same pattern.

For the amount of food and clothing sent to the various countries see the table at the end of this article.

Mennonite Aid

The major part of the Aid Section work was devoted to the resettlement problems that are faced by settlers in Western Europe and Latin America. There has been very little immigration this year.

A growing phase of MCC activity is that of providing a channel of specific interests of North American constituents who wish to help in special projects in South America. For example, a district conference purchased a bulldozer for Paraguay; investors known as Uruguay Settlements Associates are providing loan funds for down payments on land in Uruguay; etc.

The Barrio Grande leprosy project in Paraguay under the direction of Dr. John R. Schmidt is moving ahead. Plans are to begin the treatment program soon now that many of the buildings are completed. Other projects in Paraguay are the experimental farms in Fernheim and Volendam; and the MCC center in Asuncion.

The greatest problem in Uruguay just now is the Gartental land purchase which has been pending for two years. With outside help through the Uruguay Settlement Associates they hope to close this land deal early in 1954. The MCC home in Montevideo serves as hostel and youth center.

Martin Duerksen serves in Buenos Aires, Argentina, as pastor of the small independent Mennonite congregation formed about a year ago, and tries to keep in contact with the scattered Mennonites of that city. The center at Sao Paulo, Brazil, continues to serve as a place where young people working in the city may come for Christian fellowship.

With the help of PAX men the resettlement of Mennonite families in western Germany has gone steadily forward. Help was also given to the drought-stricken Mennonites in Mexico through seed loans and well drilling. The Aid Section is again sponsoring the student and trainee program.

Voluntary Service

During the last year a large number of applicants are men seeking a way to fulfill I-W requirements. Four orientation schools were conducted in 1953 for 57 volunters. At present there are 11 units with 131 people working in them. They cover four areas of service—community services, mental hospitals, general hospital, and delinquent children's work.

Last summer 72 Canadians and 65 Americans served in 7 units in Canada and 12 in the United States. Nineteen American young people served in work camps in Europe together with Europeans.

New units opened during the past year are Maine General Hospital, Portland; McKim Boys Haven, Baltimore, Md.; and Baptists Home for Children, Bethesda, Md.

Mental Health

This is the fifth year of MCC mental hospital operation. In December, 1952, the Mennonite Mental Health Services, Inc., was established. Both Brook Lane Farm and Kings View Homes with their staff facilities have been turned over to the new corporation.

At Brook Lane Farm the ten-bed extension to be opened soon will make possible a wider range of selection among patient applicants. The plan is to accept more of the neurotic and mild psychotic cases which do not mix well with disturbed patients.

Ray Cramer was added to the Kings View staff; he is an ordained minister who serves in patient counselling and social service. The new staff house in Reedley has been completed. The third annual mental health institute was held in Reedley in May. These institutes tend to draw the community closer into the operation of the mental hospital.

Prairie View Hospital near Newton, Kans., the third MCC mental hospital, is to be opened early in 1954. Over $200,000 has been contributed for the building, and $30,000 for furnishings and equipment, almost entirely by churches of the central area.

Peace Section

As in other years since the draft law was passed a large proportion of the time and attention of the Peace Section office has been occupied in representing to government and others the position of our people of nonresistant faith, in counseling and otherwise assisting those with draft problems, and in developing and promoting peace literature.

Contact with the Washington scene is maintained through the National Service Board for Religious Objectors. Contact among the three historic peace churches—Mennonite, Brethren, and Friends—is maintained through a Continuation Committee with Orie O. Miller as representative for the MCC constituency. John Howard Yoder became the Peace Section representative in Europe when Irvin B. Horst relinquished this responsibility in October. A new move was made in that Abram Dueck of Brazil was appointed as Peace Section representative in South America.

Literature development includes the reprinting of Mennonite Origins in Europe; Don Smucker's paper on The Theological Basis for Christian Pacifism prepared for the 1950 Detroit conference, in pamphlet form; a pamphlet, Reinhold Niebuhr and Christian Pacifism by John Howard Yoder; and printing a unified peace statement, Peace Is the Will of God. This statement was prepared by the European Continuation Committee of the historic peace churches with participation from the international FOR and will become one of the study documents of the World Christian Council meeting at Evanston in 1954.

I-W Services

During the last year the number of men assigned to jobs approved by Selective Service has risen from 400 to 4,000; approximately 70 per cent of these are Mennonites. A year ago the pattern of operation was just developing but now it has fairly well crystallized.

The work of the Akron office consists of finding suitable openings for I-W men, giving them counsel on draft and other problems, promoting educational activities among men in units, and other related services. The Akron office keeps in touch with constituent groups through I-W representatives.

One hundred thirty-five men are serving in 43 Mennonite institutions approved for the use of I-W men; 70 are serving in domestic MCC administered projects; 88 in PAX with 54 in Germany and 12 in Greece with fewer numbers serving in Holland, Jordan, Korea, Paraguay, Egypt, Iraq, and France; 18 are serving in MCC relief projects in 9 foreign countries.

J. S. Hartzler, 1857-1953

J. E. Gingrich

J. S. Hartzler was born Aug. 8, 1857, in a humble Christian home of the Amish Mennonite Church near Topeka, Ind. According to Brother Hartzler's testimony, his father was a rigid disciplinarian in the home. This, along with the Christian tone of the home, undoubtedly contributed toward the development of a life which the Lord was later able to use in so many ways and for so many years of active Christian service.

On Feb. 5, 1880, he was married to Fannie Stutzman, who passed away in 1929. His only child, Vernon, passed away in his early twienties in 1907. On July 14, 1930, Brother Hartzler was married to Cathrine Christophel Bower, who remains to mourn his departure.

He was ordained to the ministry on April 18, 1881, to serve in the Maple Grove congregation at Topeka, Ind. This was the beginning of a life of service for the Lord in the Mennonite Church which took him into wide and varied fields of labor.

Twice he was asked to submit to examination for the office of bishop, but he always declared that the Lord did not call him to this office. One such occasion was during his extended visit to our mission in India. A communication was sent to him informing him that he was in the lot and requesting his advice concerning the time when an ordination should be held. His answer was that he would not be chosen anyway, and they may proceed with the ordination in his absence. A book was placed for him in his absence, but another brother was chosen.

During his youth he became interested in teaching school; so he prepared himself for this profession. He began teaching in his home community and this experience along with his deep spiritual interest prepared him for the years of service he gave in the teaching work in the Elkhart Institute and later Goshen College. In the early years of the Elkhart Institute he helped to form the pattern and purposes of education in the Mennonite Church.

He served not only in teaching but in the administration of Elkhart Institute and the early days of Goshen College. He was possibly one of the chief figures responsible for moving the school from Elkhart to Goshen.

During the days of the Elkhart Institute and the publishing work in Elkhart the foreign missionary interests also awakened Mennonite Church leaders. J. S. Hartzler was one of the key men in the church who were instrumental in beginning our foreign mission work. According to minutes which were recorded by a local evangelizing board, the interest in India which began with the famine of the late 1890's kept growing until in 1898 a meeting was held in the Elkhart Church which continued throughout most of the night, in which people wrestled before God until He led them to launch our first foreign mission work. Both in this meeting and in what followed Bro. Hartzler became one of the leading figures. He was one of the brethren who were appointed to examine prospective missionaries who were to be sent out under the Mennonite Evangelizing and Benevolent Board, the forerunner of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. It is also worthy of mention that in his classes at Goshen College he was instrumental in sowing some of the seeds for the first interest in our mission in Argentina.

During World War I when the church was caught unprepared, Bro. Hartzler was one of the brethren selected to give guidance and encouragement to those who were called up for military service and to interpret the position of the church to government and military leaders. Many of the experiences in these early days of pioneering have been preserved in his book, Mennonites in the World War.

Early in June of 1923, at the age of 65, he was prevailed upon to become pastor of the Prairie Street congregation. It took considerable persuading on the part of those responsible before he was ready to accept this task; partly, no doubt, because of his age, but mainly because he was so aware of the continual tensions which had existed in the congregation for many years. The Lord finally spoke to him and his companion throught serious illness, in which both of them were confined to their beds for some time. God used him in a marvelous way during those early days of tension and covered them with His grace and tender mercies; so much so that today there is a working together among the brotherhood such as had hardly been experienced in those early days.

The writer's personal experiences with Brother Hartzler date back to the time I arrived in Elkhart, about a year after he became pastor of the congregation. My first relations with him were as my Sunday-school teacher, and then in 1933 I became associated with him in the ministry.

It is evident that the forty years of broad experiences in the work of the church prepared him for the difficult task at Elkhart. The Lord used him to mend the breaches, to heal the wounds, and to strengthen the marred tissues of personality and prejudice. He was courageous, mellow, understanding, and patient in his dealings with those who had become frustrated through the years.

Through his encouragement and missionary vision two mission outposts were opened during the years he was pastor, 1923 to 1940. These two outposts are now fully organized congregations and another outpost has since been added. A number of young people have also left this congregation throughout the years to enter Christian service in foreign lands and in home missions and relief.

As I look back over the years of our working together in the ministry in the Prairie Street congregation, I still marvel at the patience he must have had and the way he always tried to help me in the work. We worked together for a little more than six years following my ordination, and then he retired as pastor of the congregation. Some time previous to his retirement he was discussing with me his plan to retire and in the course of his conversation he remarked. "When I retire, I retire."

This, I am frank to say, is precisely what he did. For a number of years following his retirement, as we would counsel concerning the work of the congregation, he was always ready to give his best counsel, then would conclude with, "Now, I think that is what I would do, if it were me. If you want to take some of this counsel, or all of it, or none of it, that is perfectly all right. I am not the pastor, you are; and whatever you think is best will be perfectly all right with me." Also he fully supported me in every decision I would make, undergirding the decisions to the utmost of his ability.

Although Bro. Hartzler retired from his pastoral responsibilities in the early part of 1940, he continued to accept regular preaching appointments for a few years longer. The last sermon he preached in his home congregation was August 10, 1947, just two days after his ninetieth birthday.

After his ninetieth birthday he began to show signs of gradually weakening, first in body and then in his memory. In spite of this condition he was a regular attendant at church services, even when he had to be brought to church in a wheel chair. Finally on Nov. 10, 1951, Brother and Sister Hartzler were moved to the Home for the Aged, where he could be given the care he needed.

His passing, on April 1, 1953, brings to a close another very significant contribution to the history of the Mennonite Church. May the Lord raise up other faithful servants who are ready to take up the task which this saint lays down.

The body was returned to Elkhart for burial. Funeral services were held in the Prairie Street Church on April 4. The service was under the direction of the pastor, and the sermon was preached by D. A. Yoder. Two other brethren who shared in the service were Lester Mann from the Pleasant View congregation and J. J. Hostetler of Peoria, Ill. Both were former members of the Prairie Street congregation while Bro. Hartzler was pastor.

Samuel E. Allgyer, 1859-1953

John Umble

Samuel Evans Allgyer, bishop in the Oak Grove Mennonite Church for more than forty years, quietly passed away at his home near West Liberty, Ohio, on November 15, 1953; aged 94 years, 8 months, 7 days. He had offered the prayer in the morning service at Oak Grove and was on his way to the dedication of the South Union Church when he suffered a stroke. He was the youngest in the family of Joseph and Barbara (Zook) Allgyer and was born in Mifflin County, Pennsylvania, on March 8, 1859.

In 1874 the family moved to Wayne County, Ohio, and the next year to Champaign County, Ohio, where they purchased a farm that became home for Brother Allgyer for the remainder of his days except for short periods during his later years. In 1883 he married Priscilla Ann Umble of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, who shared with him the life and work of a minister and evangelist until her death in April, —— 1946. His father who died in 1884 designated him executor of his will.

He had tremendous energy and was always on time with his farm work. Seed time and harvest never found him behindhand. His stock was always well fed, well cared for, and his horses sleek and well groomed. But no neighbors' plea for help ever went unheeded. He also operated a threshing rig in co-operation with a neighbor, making many friends with his efficient management of the separator and his reputation for fair dealing. He placed a high value on the good opinion of his neighbors and friends.

At sixteen he united with the Oak Grove congregation. Soon after his marriage he was elected assistant superintendent of the Sunday school and served in some official capacity until two years after his ordination in 1905. When he became superintendent in 1891 the Sunday school adopted the International Uniform Lessons published by the Mennonite Publishing Company. During his service as superintendent the school changed from German to English. He headed a movement to reorganize the Young People's Meeting under congregational control and helped to found the Logan-Champaign annual Sunday-school meeting and the quarterly mission meeting, also the Saturday evening Bible class that for thirty years was a powerful force in strengthening the work of the Sunday school.

An event that gave great power and direction to his life and teaching occurred in the early nineties. He had been faithful in church attendance and was a loyal member of the congregation. But attendance one winter at a Methodist revival meeting conducted by a dynamic, Spirit-filled young minister led Allgyer to question the validity of his own Christian experience. Was Christ real to him? Or was he merely an ordinary church member depending for salvation on good works? He did not respond to the appeal to come to the altar but in the quiet of his home he and his wife through prayer and Bible study found the way to salvation by grace. It was a turning point in his life, leading him into a richer teaching and living experience.

In 1905 he was ordained to the ministry in the Oak Grove congregation. The congregation was happy to have him serve as minister but insisted on re-electing him superintendent for two more terms. Even before the end of that time his increasing activity in evangelistic services and Bible conferences made it impractical to continue him as superintendent. He was ordained bishop in 1908.

The vigor and the evangelistic fervor of his preaching soon led him into the evangelistic field. In 1906 the Ohio and Eastern A.M. Conference appointed him conference evangelist. The next year his evangelistic efforts in a Nebraska congregation brought fifty-five people into a right relation with the church and prevented a division in the congregation.

His purchase of the farm in 1886 had left him heavily in debt but wise economy and his great physical energy aided by unusually good crops and an upturn in farm prices soon put him and his wife on the way to financial independence. He and his wife tenderly cared for his aged mother during the long lonely years of her widowhood. He added several adjoining pieces of property to his farm and in 1912 after two daughters were married he turned the farm over to the sons-in-law and spent the summer building two houses, one for one of his daughters and the other for his wife and himself. After that he gave up farming to devote most of his time to evangelism and other forms of church work.

He never regretted that he gave up farming at the age of fifty-three to devote more time to the work of the church especially to evangelistic work. His meetings were successful at home, in the East, in the South, in Canada, and in remote places in the West. One series of meetings held at the Bethel Church in West Liberty resulted in fifty-six decisions. The response to these efforts led to a call in 1914 to serve in a newly created post—field worker for the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities—a position he held for twenty-five years. In 1916 an evangelistic tour of the Northwest occupied two months. But these tours also meant weeks and months of loneliness for his wife whose never-failing greeting on his return was, "Oh, Papa, I am so glad you are back!" In 1923 he took his wife with him on a six-month tour of the Northwest, a happy experience for her. His work as an evangelist was appreciated not only among the rural congregations but in the educational centers of the church. He especially enjoyed the three series of meetings held at Goshen, two of four weeks each at or near Hesston College, and one three-week meeting at Eastern Mennonite College.

In his home community he was respected and honored by Mennonite and non-Mennonite and often officiated at funerals in non-Mennonite churches. But during World War I fifteen cars of self-appointed vigilantes drove up to his home and dragged him from the house to force him to pay one hundred dollars into the war fund. When he refused, they clipped his hair with horse clippers while his children prayed and his wife "preached" his tormentors an eloquent sermon on love and good will, and reminded them of his many unselfish deeds done in the community. Years later many of them offered their apologies and others requested that he preach their funeral sermon if he should survive them. He did so.

He served on a number of church boards and committees: moderator of General Conference 1929-31 and of the Ohio and Eastern A.M. Conference for a number of years; chairman of the Church Polity Committee; Faculty Committee of the Mennonite Board of Education, member of the South American Trust Board, trustee of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, field worker of the Board for many years and secretary of its Missions Committee, and secretary of the Conference Problems Committee. In 1919 the Mennonite Relief Commission sent him to France in the interests of reconstruction work and of the fifty young Mennonites engaged in voluntary service.

He derived much satisfaction from his service in two other areas. He was elected a member of the Board of Trustees of the Children's Home at West Liberty in 1900 and served on the Board for forty-six years. About 1935 he became deeply concerned that the Mission Board's Old People's Home near Rittman in Wayne County, Ohio, which had burned to the ground in 1919, should be rebuilt. He was able to interest a committee and then presented the matter to the Ohio and Eastern A.M. Conference. They voted favorably. He next presented a building plan which the conference accepted. They appointed him chairman of the building committee and authorized him to solicit money for the building. Almost single-handed he raised the money by personal visits from congregation to congregation and house to house. The building was dedicated in 1939 after the first floor was finished. He purchased some of the funiture and succeeded in interesting Aaron Peachey and his wife to be superintendent and matron. The need for the building is shown by the waiting list.

In his work in the church he ordained 38 men—8 bishops, 20 ministers, and 10 deacons; he preached 315 funeral sermons, married 104 couples, preached 4,000 sermons, crossed the Allegheny Mountains 300 times, made 4 trips to the West Coast. He has served as bishop of 8 congregations: Lima Mission, Bethel at West Liberty, Central at Elida, Salem at Elida, Belleville, Pennsylvania; Sharon in Madison County, South Union and Oak Grove. At four of these he ordained bishops and then resigned on account of his age in 1951. The first summer after his ordination to the ministry he attended his first church conference, the Ohio and Eastern A.M. The same year he attended General Conference in Canada. He never missed either of these conferences during the next forty-three years.

He and his wife were the parents of eight children: Eva Mae (Mrs. N. E. Troyer, deceased 1950); Barbara Ellen (Mrs. Earl M. Yoder, d. 1934); Maud Umble (Mrs. Dan C. Yoder, d. 1929); Jacob Roy, Anna Mary (Mrs. A. Ray Eschliman), Ruth Edna (Mrs. J. G. Baumgartner), Samuel Maurice, and John Mark. There are twenty-three grandchildren and thirty-nine great-grandchildren.

After the death of his companion in 1946, he continued his active interest in church affairs and continued to reside in the home that they had built in 1912. Occasionally he made his home with one or another of his children for a brief period but he always came back "home" to West Liberty. During the closing years of his life his daughter Anna Mary and her husband moved from Sioux Falls, South Dakota, to the ancestral home and kept house for him. He did much reading and writing and wrote a letter to his children every week.

The S. E. Allgyer Memorial Library Fund has been established for the purpose of providing books for the libraries at the Oak Grove Mennonite Church and the Mennonite Orphans' Home at West Liberty, Ohio, and the large-type New Testaments for the Mennonite Old People's Home at Rittman, Ohio.

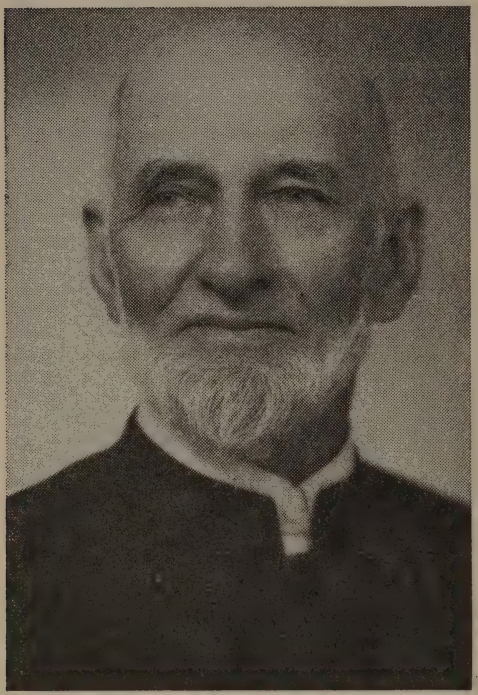
Daniel D. Troyer, 1870-1953

Ira S. Johns



Daniel D. Troyer, the son of Noah L. and Mary Schrock Troyer, was born Jan. 12, 1870, the fifth child in the family. His ancestors came to this country from Switzerland and Germany and settled in Somerset County, Pennsylvania. Later they moved westward to Ohio where his father was born in Holmes County and his mother in Wayne County.

His parents were married in Holmes County, Ohio. From here they moved westward seeking homes and cheaper land, settling in Stark County, Indiana. D. D. Troyer was born near Knox, in Stark County.

When he was seven years old, his parents decided to move to Lagrange County, Indiana, possibly because of the absence of desirable church privileges in Stark County. They lived in Lagrange County until Daniel was about fifteen years old.

Since his parents became somewhat dissatisfied with their circumstances in northern Indiana, they decided to move south into Tennessee. They settled in Coffee County, where they lived for about four years.

While living in Tennessee, Daniel helped his father on the farm all but one year, which was spent in Huntsville, Ala. During his stay in Alabama he was employed in a bakery. He told the writer of this sketch that his experience in the bakery came in very well for him, especially in later life after the death of his wife when for some time he lived by himself.

Daniel attended grade school for about seven years. This was the extent of his education so far as going to school was concerned. However, an important part of his training was learning the discipline of work. His parents had little of what we call wealth. Daniel learned to work, to save and be thrifty, and to be careful in management. In his mature years he was a good counsellor in financial affairs and helped many of his people make proper choices along financial lines. He was also a reader and student of the Word of God.

At the age of nineteen years when his parents decided again to move to Indiana, he came along. At the age of twenty he was baptized and received into church fellowship in the Clinton Frame Amish Mennonite Church. He always said that it was at Clinton Frame Church where he was born again. He was a member of the body of Christ only a few years until he was called to the ministry.

In his early Christian life the church at Clinton Frame went through severe trial. The result was a division but Brother Troyer, as a young man and a young Christian, was loyal and faithful. On Sept. 23, 1892, at the age of twenty-two, he was chosen by lot and ordained to the ministry. The writer of this sketch remembers the ordination service although at that time only a boy in his early teens.

At Clinton Frame he became acquainted with Mary Elizabeth Pletcher to whom he was married Jan. 8, 1893. This was just a little over three months after his ordination. The writer witnessed the marriage ceremony in the home of his father, Bishop D. J. Johns.

By occupation D. D. Troyer was a farmer. He was industrious and a good manager. He lived on a rented farm for a number of years, but never moved often as he always seemed to get along well with the landowner. In 1905 he bought a 158-acre farm a few miles east of Goshen. He improved this farm clearing about twenty-five acres of it himself. In 1907 his barn was destroyed by fire. With the assistance of the brotherhood, friends, and neighbors, he built a new barn. The farm at present is owned by his son, Oscar M. Troyer.

He was a man given to hospitality. Friend and stranger were received into the home with a friendly welcome. His wife shared with him in this hospitality.

Brother Troyer and his wife cared for their parents in their home for a number of years. They also had a niece in their home for about eleven years, and when their daughter Nora, Mrs. Fred Byler, died, they took her daughter Ruth and brought her up as their own child.

In 1893, one year after his ordination as minister, he held his first series of meetings at the Salem Mennonite Church a few miles west of New Paris, Ind.

He served as corresponding secretary in the Indiana-Michigan Amish Mennonite Conference for the years 1894 and 1900. In 1896 he was appointed as Home Evangelist and in 1903 he was elected State Evangelist. His duty was to visit all congregations in the state during the conference year.

He served as delegate to General Conference four times before his ordination to the office of bishop, which office then made him a delegate to all General Conference meetings. He attended very nearly all the meetings of General Conference and it is the opinion of the writer that Brother Troyer attended every annual meeting of the Indiana-Michigan Conference held during his ministry of a little over sixty years.

On Nov. 9, 1920, he was ordained to the office of bishop to assist in the rural mission work of the Indiana-Michigan District Mission Board. This took much of his time. He assisted in organizing a number of congregations under the District Mission Board. He also served as bishop of one independent congregation.

In 1932 he was chosen as bishop of the Clinton Frame congregation (Bishop D. J. Johns requesting to be released on account of age). He held this office until his hearing became impaired and he was relieved of this responsibility.

From 1931 to 1942 he was a member of the Executive Committee of the Mennonite Publication Board serving the Board as president two years and vice-president nine years. He was influential in the location of the Gospel Bookstore in Goshen, Ind.

He lived to the age of 83 years. He was active in the ministry until the death of his companion in 1946 after which time he would preach occasionally until about the three last years of his life. In 1948 he was united in marriage to Mrs. Ada Lehman of Oregon, who survives him.

The writer of this sketch visited him often, especially the last six months of his life. He often said, "I have lived long enough; I am ready to go."

He quietly passed away on July 18, 1953, at his home east of Goshen. Funeral services were held at the Clinton Frame Mennonite Church in charge of the home ministers. His body was interred in the family plot in the Clinton Union Cemetery.

Claude C. Culp, 1893-1953

T. E. Schrock

Claude C. Culp, son of Simon and Marelda Culp, was born near Wakarusa, Ind., May 22, 1893. He had three sisters, all of whom are still living: Mrs. William Nussbaum of Dalton, Ohio; Mrs. Floyd Lehman of Wakarusa, Ind., and Lucille Culp of Los Angeles, Calif.

His boyhood days were spent on a farm under the guidance of deeply religious parents who attended the Yellow Creek Mennonite Church. He answered the call of his Saviour in 1907, at the age of 14, during a revival meeting conducted by Daniel Kauffman. Several months later he was baptized by Bishop David Burkholder. As a youth he began taking life seriously and enjoyed reading and studying.

On Oct. 1, 1913, at the age of 20, his early missionary work and experiences began at the Fort Wayne Mission, under the direction of B. B. King, the mission superintendent, who asked the young disciple to come and help. On Dec. 31, 1916, he went to the Youngstown, Ohio, Mission for a year of service. During the year he answered the call for rural mission work under the Indiana-Michigan District Mission Board and was ordained to the ministry on Dec. 23, 1917, by J. K. Bixler who had bishop supervision of the mission stations under the Board.

However, because the United States was then engaged in World War I, he was drafted into the army and sent to Camp Taylor, Kentucky, on March 28, 1918. Those were trying days for the boys who had convictions against war, and were quartered with the soldiers. Brother Claude, with some others, however, took a stand as conscientious objectors, which quickly brought them into serious conflict with army officials and brought ridicule from the soldiers. He was arrested and placed in the guardhouse. At his trial, when he refused to take any part in the armed services, he was sentenced for ten years to the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., on May 30, 1918. He was released however, on Jan. 27, 1919, a few months after the war ended.

On March 12, 1919, he married Emma W. Habig of Fort Wayne, Ind., and on May 15, 1919, they moved to Chief, Mich., to take charge of the Pleasantview congregation. Soon calls began coming for evangelistic services from many places. An incomplete record shows 107 series of meetings held in eleven conference districts from Virginia to Oregon. The first one was held at Midland, Mich., in 1922 and the last recorded one at Maple Grove in the Upper Peninsula in 1951. He and C. A. Shank held evangelistic meetings in the Upper Peninsula before any workers were stationed there.

Brother Culp was an able speaker, quite vigorous and emphatic in his delivery, clear in his presentation. He held the attention of his audience well. His value in revival meeting work is attested by his being called back to the same places for successive times, as often as five or six times. Records also show fifty-nine Bible conferences and week-end meetings although no record was kept of eight of those years. He also served two years on the Executive Committee of the Indiana-Michigan Conference.

No doubt the local congregation suffered because of the absence of their pastor over the years. Of this fact he was also aware. In order to supply this need, Lester Wyse of Midland, Mich., was requested to move in and was ordained in 1944 to be pastor. Thus Brother Culp was released to give his time more freely to evangelistic meetings, Bible conferences, and Bible schools.

Before 1937 the work of the District Mission Board consisted largely of assuming charge of and developing congregations where some Mennonite people lived. One bishop took care of them all. However, with the launching out of the work and the opening of mission stations in the Upper Peninsula and in many other places, two bishops were appointed as superintendents in 1944 to care for this work. In 1947 a different method was adopted—that of placing mission stations in the care of bishops living near by, and ordained several for new areas—one in the Upper Peninsula and one for the Pleasantview-White Cloud-Zion congregations. This involved Brother Culp's congregation.

The writer was delegated to interview him with instructions to see if he thought he should be considered as a possible nominee since his evangelistic work took much of his time, and if called, would he be willing to give this task the time and effort needed? His reply was a preference for evangelistic work, rather than the duties of a bishop, but since he feared refusing to be considered might displease God, he consented to be available as a nominee. In the voting he received a strong majority vote and was ordained to the office of bishop Aug. 31, 1947, by T. E. Schrock for the three congregations. In the years he served these churches the ties of fellowship between the congregations became unusually close.

He served as principal in a number of summer Bible schools and in two-weeks winter Bible schools. For two terms he taught in the Johnstown Bible School, and for the last eight years he served as principal of the Michigan Mennonite Bible School at Fairview, Mich., into which he put a great deal of time, effort, and prayer. He was an able teacher and worked well with others. The courses he was to teach, or the messages he was to give were always prepared before he left home.

Brother Claude was a man with a very keen conscience which he protected and followed carefully. He had what is so essential for every Christian, a way in which he understood the Lord's will in making decisions. He was a strong advocate of nonconformity and nonresistance as to faith and practice for the brotherhood. He loved to study the Bible and to think things through for himself. He was convinced of what he believed and why he believed it.

In his early ministry he spent many days in the winter in study. Often he would have to stop and share with his wife some new precious truth he had discovered. It seems to her that in those years before he had many books he preached his best sermons. Many times in the waking moments of the night he would arise and make a note of some new thought, lest he would forget it again. His private devotions were always spent immediately upon rising in the morning in prayer and reading the Bible, which he finished reading through the eighteenth time on Jan. 15, 1953. From the year 1910 he kept a record of the books that he read, numbering 439. His method of reading a book was to read it through, and then return to restudy the points that had impressed him. He was keenly interested in the whole church, and always read all the conference reports in the Gospel Herald.

In the home he had a great concern for the spiritual welfare of his family. Their home was blessed with two daughters: Helen, Mrs. Elmer Swartz of Turner, Mich., and Ruth, at home. Records show that he preached 107 funeral sermons, most of them being for those of the community.

As to his health he was affiicted with an ulcer of the stomach for many years, for which he at times had to go on a strict diet for recovery. In the fall of 1952 he had a severe hemorrhage which nearly took his life, but he recovered sufficiently to assume his duties in the six weeks' Fairview Bible School, although in a weakened condition. Then began a relapse and in April he went to the Traverse City hospital for surgery. This failed to bring recovery, and on May 18, 1953, just four days short of threescore years, he left here and went home to the Lord's circle. He retained the idea of getting better again, but expressed a willing submission to the Master. While our beloved brother is missed in the home, in the congregation, in the conference, and we appreciate what he did, it is well for us to remember humbly that the greatest thing he or we can ever do is to tell what Jesus Christ has done.

B. B. King preached the funeral sermon. The funeral was attended by twenty-five ordained brethren from the district who wished to show their esteem for their departed brother and express their sympathy to the bereaved family. Adapted by permission from The Gospel Evangel.

 The above tabulation represents contributions received by the Treasurer of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities including contributions received directly by the city missions and charitable institutions under the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. Charitable contributions include only contributions that were received by the Treasurer and not payments made by patrons of the charitable institutions. Other contributions not included in this tabulation are annuities and district board contributions not forwarded to the Treasurer at Elkhart. Most of the contributions under General Fund of missions have been used for home work. Figures are for the fiscal year ending April 1.
